SECOND TRIAL OF ROBT. FRAZIER IN CARTER

PROMINENT MERCHANT AGAIN
BEING TRIED ON MURDER CHARGE.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 12.—Thirty or forty witnesses from Fleming county passed through this city to-day on their way to Grayson, where to-morrow will begin the second trial of Robert Frazier, prominent merchant of Lexington, on a charge of murdering Stella Kenny, 17-year-old girl of Olive Hill, who had been making her home at Olive Hill on May 2 last, and when on a lonely road en route she was murdered. Frazier claimed he and the girl were overtaken by highwaymen and attacked, their assailants killing the girl by clubbing and choking her to death and slightly injuring him. He exhibited several bruises and scratches in substantiation of his story. Later developments, it is said, brought out testimony that the girl and Frazier were heard quarreling along the road. Frazier was placed under arrest a few days later, following an autopsy on the girl's body, and upon the trial of Frazier the jury was unable to agree.

Nine of the Fleming county delegation here to-day are defense witnesses and twenty-three witnesses for the prosecution.

BANQUET TO SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS.

The Good Fellowship Bible Class of the Presbyterian Sunday school, Ashland, held their annual banquet Tuesday night in the Sunday school parlors which proved to be a most interesting and enjoyable event. The banquet was served by the Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the church and seldom have we had the pleasure of partaking of a more toothsome and appetizing menu. Three long tables were spread and they looked beautiful in their decorations of fall flowers. Covers were laid for 75 and every place was taken.

Mr. John Woods, teacher of the class, acted as toastmaster and after the appetizing dinner had been disposed of a program was presented of more than usual merit.

Mr. W. J. Vaughan, State Sunday School worker, and beloved by all our people made a splendid address on the subject of personal work. Mr. Vaughan is an interesting speaker and always illustrates his subject with stories embodying both humor and pathos and he knows how to present them with a master hand. His address last night was a master piece and he held the almost breathless attention of the audience for nearly an hour—Ashland Independent.

JOHNSON COUNTY FAIR WAS A BIG SUCCESS.

County Agent Kegley attended the Johnson County Fair last week and is enthusiastic and emphatic in his unqualified praise of what he saw there in the way of farm products and live stock. He was asked to judge the agriculture display, which he did understandingly. By the way, our farmer friend, W. T. Kline, makes about the same report of what he saw at the same fair.

Mr. Kegley has, since his return, been over many parts of this county, examining, prescribing for and treating live stock. Where he has been called in time success has followed his work. Next week he will go to the Blaine section and endeavor to inaugurate a co-operative system to work. It costs the farmers nothing and they should take hold of it.

FOUR SCORE AND TWO.

On Friday evening last, October 8th, Mrs. Nancy Billups, of this city, celebrated the eighty-second anniversary of her birth. The occasion was a very pleasant one, made so by the event itself and the presence of many of her children and other kindred. The celebration was entirely informal, but the lack of formality only deepened the pleasure of the meeting. A very pleasant part of the anniversary was the fact that "Aunt" Nancy baked the cake which, with cream, was served in generous slices. It was one of the old-fashioned "pound" variety, and it was a good one, too. Mrs. Billups preserves much of her activity and all of the brightness and snap of her dark eyes, and does not look a day more than seventy. May she live to be a centenarian.

OTHER PRIZE WINNERS.

Two other contestants not reported to the NEWS in the Lawrence county fair report were as follows:
Miss Grace Blankenship won the prize as the prettiest young lady, and Miss Martilla Shannon as the best rider. Miss Grace is the pretty young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raish Blankenship, of Madge, soon to become residents of this city. Miss Shannon, whose horsemanship has to be seen to be admired and appreciated, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shannon, of Irad. She also won the prize for best riding July 4, 1914.

NEW TEACHER FOR K. N. C.

Mr. Ellis, who comes well recommended as competent for the place, has been made superintendent of the vocal and instrumental music department of K. N. C. It is said a fine brass band will be organized from pupils, and some of the young men of Louisa. A school orchestra is also contemplated.

PRESIDENT WILSON IS TO BE AGAIN MARRIED.

Washington, Oct. 7.—The engagement of Mrs. Normal Galt, of Washington, to President Woodrow Wilson was announced at the White House last night. No date was set for the wedding, but it will probably occur early in December at the executive mansion.

Mrs. Galt, who will be the next first lady of the land, is the widow of a business man of Washington, Normal Galt, who died eight years ago. She has resided here since her marriage. Mrs. Galt was Miss Edith Bolling and was born in Wytheville, Va. Her father was the Hon. William Bolling, a well known lawyer of that section of Virginia. Her family is distinguished in Virginia and Mrs. Galt is related to many of the best families of the Old Dominion.

The President met his fiancée, through his daughter, Miss Margaret Wilson and his cousin, Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, who is a member of the White House household. Mrs. Galt is one of Miss Bones's most intimate friends, and spent a month at the summer white house at Cornish, as the guest of Miss Bones and Miss Wilson. It is understood that Mrs. Galt and the President have intellectual tastes in common and the President has been a frequent dinner guest at the Galt household during the season which has just passed.

An informal dinner party was given at the White House, which Mrs. Galt attended to celebrate the announcement of the engagement.

Fourteen months ago to a day the President's first wife, who was Miss Ellen Axson, died in the White House. For many months the President maintained the strictest mourning. Late last spring it was noticed that the charming friend of Miss Bones, his favorite cousin, was a frequent guest, not only at the White House, but in the Presidential box at the baseball games. Rumors of an existing engagement between the President and Mrs. Galt did not begin to ripen until the Cornish visit. Mrs. Galt and the President each day were companions on long rides through the sunlit hills of Vermont and New Hampshire.

Mrs. Galt's resemblance to the late Mrs. Wilson has frequently excited comment. She is a strikingly pretty woman, in her late thirties, slightly below medium height, and has a graceful, rather plump figure. Her hair is brown and her eyes are grey-blue. Her prettiest feature is her mouth, which is curved and expressive.

President Wilson will be fifty-nine years old in December.

FAMILY REUNION TO BE HELD ON DANIELS CREEK

The descendants of Richard Wells have arranged a family reunion to be held at the grave of the noted soldier on November 12, 1915, on Daniels Creek. The relatives of this early settler are scattered over the country and arrangements have been made to invite all of them to meet on this day for a general good time and to hear of the family history.

Dinner will be served on the ground and speeches by those who know of the early family history. All the descendants are invited to be present on this occasion. There are about one thousand descendants and arrangements have been made to take care of all of them.

Dr. John P. Wells of this city, is sending out this week invitations to the relatives. If you get an invitation and know of some of the relatives that have moved away he would be glad to hear from you. He will also appreciate a letter from any of the descendants in regard to the further details of this gathering.—Paintsville Herald.

HELD UP AND ROBBED OF $600 BY NEGROES.

California Lewis, who lives on a farm about one mile and a half this side of Princess, reported to Mayor Salisbury Sunday afternoon that he had been held up and robbed of $600 by two negroes while in a pawpaw patch within a short distance of his house.

Mr. Lewis said that he had gone to the pawpaw patch shortly after noon and that two negroes, one short and heavy set weighing about 180 pounds and the other a tall mulatto had suddenly appeared and had asked him about a gas line and then flashed a revolver and demanded that he hand over to them his money. Mr. Lewis said that while one of the negroes held the revolver the other put his hand in his pocket and removed therefrom a pocketbook containing $600 which they took and then handed the empty pocketbook back to him.—Ashland Independent.

BIG SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING

With services in six different churches, the three days' golden anniversary celebration of the Kentucky Sunday School Association came to an end Sunday night. "An Efficient Sunday School Within Easy Reach of Every Person in Kentucky," the goal of the organization, was the subject of addresses at each meeting place.

Fully 350 delegates from over the State, as well as several hundred local Sunday school workers, attended the different sessions of the jubilee celebration and the delegates have returned to their homes.

DINNER GUESTS.

Mrs. T. C. Sonner entertained the following friends yesterday at dinner: Mrs. Emma Jolliff, who is en route to her new home at Weston, W. Va. Others from Louisa were Miss Elizabeth Shannon and Attorney R. G. Moore.—Ashland Independent.

ORGANIZING AGAINST THE FOREST FIRES

BELL COUNTY IS THE FIRST
TO TAKE DEFINITE STEPS.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 9.—If Bell county, where 26,000 acres already have been pledged and 100,000 are in sight, forms a county forest fire protective organization, the whole block of counties in Southeastern Kentucky will be so organized, from the Madison county line through Jackson, Clay, Leslie and Harlan to the Virginia border, and from Floyd and Pike in the Sandy Valley down through Knott, Letcher, Harlan and Bell to the Tennessee line. McCreary county is organizing and Whitley is about to do so.

State Forester Barton plans to organize this vast section, embracing both Pine and Black mountains, with their outcroppings and foothills, as a whole with the counties as the units—consolidating his positions against counter-attacks by fire. Permanent lookout stations on Pine and Black mountains would be located. One already exists in Letcher.

Wise and Dickenson counties, of Virginia, are in an interstate association with Pike and other Kentucky counties and Forester Barton said Bell county, which suffers considerably from fires originating in the Tennessee and Virginia borders, could get the same protection.

Forester Barton highly favors the location of Federal Forest Reserves in Kentucky. One is contemplated, including the whole Pine Mountain country. He said it means the development of the reserve county. Twenty-five per cent of the revenues go into the county treasury for schools and roads, and 10 per cent is spent by the Government building roads. These roads, according to Mr. Barton, who was a Government forester before his appointment, are models, laid out scientifically with careful selection of routes, and constructed with easy grades.

The Government encourages every possible use of the preserves that does not damage the forests. In some places where it is suitable, the Government has cut sections into lots and leases the ground for permanent summer homes. The betterment of the mountain counties by the construction of first-class roads, the development of their resources under scientific Government assistance, thus producing a revenue, which the counties now lack, and turning 25 per cent of it, instead of a tax of one-half of one per cent into the county treasury, is the aim.

The Government leases the right to cut timber of its preserves, having supervision only of the method of cutting and handling the timber and brush, so as to protect younger growth and keep a crop always coming on for the harvest.

BROCKMEYER WILL MOVE TO JAPAN.

R. O. Conley, manager of the Huntington office of the Singer Sewing Machine company, has received notice of his appointment to the post of supervisor of agents in southern West Virginia and Eastern Kentucky. Mr. Conley will take his new position on November 1, succeeding A. Brockmeyer, who is to leave shortly thereafter for Japan, where he will be the head of a central agency for the Singer company.

Mr. Conley's promotion is the fruit of steady and efficient service which he has given during the four years and a half of his employment with the Singer people. He has been manager of the Huntington office for three years. He will continue to live in Huntington.—Herald-Dispatch.

SPEAKING AT WEBBVILLE SATURDAY NIGHT.

Judge Redwine and John M. Waugh will speak at Webbville on Saturday night of this week. Everybody invited.

They are busy holding the regular terms of court and have not had any time to devote to a canvass in the interest of their candidacy for Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney. This accounts for a night appointment to speak. Court is now in session at Grayson and they are therefore able to go to Webbville for Saturday night.

ASSAULTED GIRL IN MOTHER'S PRESENCE.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 11.—Gov. McCreary to-day offered a reward of $250 for the arrest of Ballard Blackburn, charged in Pike-co. with a peculiarly atrocious crime. Circuit Judge J. R. Robertson said in a letter about ten days to Gov. McCreary that Blackburn met Florence Justice and her mother on a lonely mountain path, made them dismount at the point of a gun and after tying Mrs. Justice's hands, assaulted the girl in her mother's presence and then fled.

CAPT. JOE FERGUSON CELEBRATES 81ST BIRTHDAY.

A most enjoyable affair was the assemblage, Monday, of a number of the friends of Captain Joseph M. Ferguson, at his beautiful suburban home "Rolling Green," near Ashland, Ky. The occasion was the observance of Captain Ferguson's eighty-first birthday and because of his being so widely known and so highly esteemed a number of friends were brought from quite a distance. Notably among the guests was Mrs. Amanda Osburn, of Wayne, herself eighty-six years of age, but like Captain Ferguson, retaining remarkable vigor of both mind and body. They were playmates in childhood and lifelong friends and are about the only ones of their coterie now living.

Captain Ferguson was warmly congratulated on the prospect of his life of usefulness and kindly deeds being extended for some years to come. At noon a sumptuous dinner was served, there being present: Captain and Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. Amanda Osburn, Dr. and Mrs. G. R. Burgess, L. B. Ferguson and wife, Charles W. Ferguson, Joseph Ferguson, and Wallace Ferguson, Mrs. Emma Bromley and Basil Burgess, of Wayne, Mrs. J. H. Meek, and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mansfield, of Huntington; Mrs. Curry, of Catlettsburg; Mrs. Sarah Smith, of Kennett, Calif.; Mrs. H. W. Boughton, and Miss Edith Boughton, of Lexington, Ky.; Mrs. A. W. Preston, of Dickson, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. R. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Pollock, Mrs. A. G. Nicholson, Mrs. Annie Ferguson, Mrs. D. C. Edgill, the Misses Margaret and Ethel Ferguson and Miss Edith Blair, of Ashland.

BOYS HELD ON CHARGE OF MURDER.

Huntington, W. Va., Oct. 6.—Noah Briles, 20, and Daner Colgrove, 18, arrested in connection with the murder of Dr. A. M. Parsons at Branchland, were arraigned Tuesday afternoon in the court of Magistrate J. W. Burns, of Sheridan district, Lincoln county, and bound over to the grand jury. Witnesses said they saw the youths armed with shot guns leaving the house of Will Briles, after the latter had been shot in the abdomen by Dr. Parsons, whose body was found near his home. It was the statement of Magistrate Burns that he expected Colgrove and young Briles would be permitted to give bond. Will Briles, father of the accused youth, was today still gravely ill at a hospital here as a result of his wound.

MEXICAN TRAVELERS BURNED TO DEATH.

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 26.—Eighty passengers of a Southern Pacific Mexican train were thrown into a car containing hay and the car set on fire by a band of Yaqui Indians Friday near Torres, Sonora, according to radio advice received here to-day from Hermosillo via Guaymas.

Only twenty passengers have been accounted for thus far, the others having been burned to death.

The Indians, according to the report, numbered about sixty and were deserters from one of the Mexican factional armies. They first derailed the train, which was running from Campo Verde to Torres, after which they placed the passengers, most of whom were women and children, in the hay car and applied the torch. So far as is known no Americans were on the train.

Torres is a small town about seventy miles north of Guaymas and a junction point of the railroad, a spur line running into the mining district where Campo Verde is located.

"TIDDLEDEWINKS."

The home of Miss Shirley Burns was the scene of much pleasure on last Friday evening. The occasion was a party given by her to a large number of her young friends, men and maidens. There were many invitations, and if any who were asked failed to be there it was because they just couldn't go. The reputation of the home for hospitality of the most gracious and generous sort is most excellent, and as this, as on other occasions, this reputation was fully sustained. Good, genial and congenial company, music, pleasant conversation, good things to eat—what more can be desired? All these were there, and "Tiddledewinks! Now, what on earth is Tiddledewinks! You can search us, and not find out. It isn't anything good to eat, for there was plenty without it. Whatever it was it must have been very nice, for Miss Shirley doesn't have any but the nicest sort of things at her parties. The guests had a happy time until close to Saturday morning and then they went away, vowing that it all had been perfectly delightful. And so it was.

ED. MARCUM BADLY HURT.

Ed. Marcum, young son of Mayor and Mrs. James O. Marcum, of Ceredo, was badly injured in the football game at St. Albans between the St. Albans and Ceredo teams Saturday. Young Marcum hit his tongue almost in two, and is suffering greatly as a result. It was feared on Sunday that blood poisoning would develop, but it is now felt that this danger had been averted. This boy is a grandson of K. F. Vinton, of Louisa.

SMALLPOX IN MOUNTAINS.

Whitesburg, Ky., Oct. 11.—A case of smallpox just developed in the family of Henry Holbrooks, a farmer, near the headwaters of the Kentucky river, in this county. Every precaution will be taken to prevent a spread of the disease.

COME TO CALIFORNIA FOR A BRIDE.

EVERETTE KIRK, BIG SANDY
LAWYER, ON HIS WAY
TO LOS ANGELES.

Everett Blaine Kirk, a son of John Kirk, deceased, and Alice M. Kirk, of Inez, Martin-co., Ky., announced, for the first time, in a way which was perfectly natural to him, at the supper table of his home on last Monday evening, that he would start for the Pacific Coast on the following morning to bring home a bride.

While he was attending the Law School of the Valparaiso University of Valparaiso, Indiana, he first met Miss Dora Brink, of Los Angeles, California, who was then a classmate of his and afterward was a fellow graduate of the Law Class of 1914. While in school this young couple became very much attached to each other and before leaving school they both wisely decided to have some future understanding and the fact that they are engaged is positive proof that they planned something like this while in school. Mr. Kirk is to be highly complimented in securing Miss Brink for a bride because she was the only girl in the law class of about 200 students, and we desire to say that Miss Dora must be "some girl" to induce a youth to "hike" 3000 miles for her hand.

Mr. Kirk is a nephew of Judge A. J. Kirk, of Paintsville, Ky., and a brother of E. W. Kirk, the "gas man," of Louisa, Ky.

Mr. Kirk, we understand has not decided just where he will locate to practice his profession but when they do locate we would advise that they stick out a shingle like this, "Kentucky and California Lawyers. Will practice in all courts between Inez and the Pacific Coast." Congratulations to both of you.

SOUTH POINT FARMER KILLED BY N. AND W. TRAIN.

Lauren T. Bryson, aged 65 years, a well known farmer of South Point, was struck by N. & W. westbound passenger train No. 33 Monday and instantly killed a few feet from where the railway tracks cross the road at South Point. Mr. Bryson was walking on the ties when he stepped out of the way of an eastbound train. A boy who saw the passenger train coming called to Mr. Bryson to look out and he started to get out of the way and was almost off the ties when he was struck by the engine. His body was hurled against a pole and his neck broken.

WILSON "SAFETY FIRST" BUTTONS.

The Democratic State campaign headquarters in Louisville has received a supply of campaign buttons bearing the picture of President Woodrow Wilson with the slogan "safety first." These buttons are sent out by an organization on the East boosting President Wilson for re-election and the Democratic renomination next year, and they are regarded as peculiarly appropriate to the present Democratic campaign in Kentucky, as the party has made the indorsement of the President's administration and his claim to re-election and re-election one of the leading planks in the platform on which Owsley Stanley and the ticket are running.

BASKET MEETING AT GLENHAYES.

On the fourth Sunday in this month there will be an old-fashioned basket meeting at Glenhayes. It will be an all day meeting. Dinner will be served on the ground. There will be plenty to eat, and everybody will be made welcome. Gospel sermons and good music will be the order of the day. Come one, come all.

DETECTIVE LOOKING FOR NEGRO.

C. & O. detective Ford, of Russell, Ky., was in Louisa Wednesday on the lookout for a negro who had acted in a very disorderly manner on the C. & O. passenger train, which left Cincinnati about 9 p. m. Tuesday. It is charged that after the train had left Maysville the negro had entered the day coach for white passengers when the conductor asked him to go into the colored coach he refused to go. An employee of the road who went to the conductor's assistance was knocked down. In the confusion which followed a lady passenger became hysterical and went into convulsions. When the train reached Russell she was taken to a hospital in front in a serious condition. The negro managed to escape from the train and is said to have boarded the Big Sandy train at the Junction. Detective Ford was sent to Louisa to arrest the negro if found but could get no trace of him.

THE MORE THE MERRIER.

Congressman W. J. Fields, of the 9th District, is probably wearing an "I should worry" look since he already has three announced opponents for the Democratic nomination next year, Judge John W. Riley, of Rowan county, and Edgar B. Hager and Ellis E. Lawrence, both of Ashland, with other counties yet to hear from. The Ninth district Representative has always played in luck in keeping the opposition to him divided and it appears that things are breaking mighty well for him even at this early stage of the game. Of course, "the more the merrier" for him.—Louisville Times.

THE BIG PHEASANT DRIVE CALLED OFF.

"I'm glad the English pheasant drive was abandoned," said Assistant Attorney General Charles H. Morris, who wrote the opinion given by Attorney General Garnett, that under the state of acts the shooting was legal though out of season. "The abandonment preserves the spirit of our game laws, though the letter of the law did not forbid the drive," he continued.

"I was afraid that the idea might be gained from the statement concerning the opinion that anyone could capture and domesticate wild game birds and thus acquire the right to shoot them on his own game preserves at any time. Such is not the fact. Mr. Ballard purchased his birds in England and they never were wild birds in this country. They were domestic fowls from the outset so far as our game laws were concerned, although he could not have permitted them to run wild off the preserve for any period of time and then recaptured them and continued the state of domestic fowls. But under the state of facts presented to us, those were domestic fowls and the owner had the right to kill them at any time he saw fit. He could go out and wring their necks, if he desired.

"From this, however, it must not be gathered that a man may go afield during the open season, capture game birds and take them home and domesticate them, so that he can kill them out of season. The proprietorship in wild or individual can by any means divest the people of this ownership and acquire the exclusive ownership in himself. I doubt whether he could pick up eggs of the wild birds, take them home and hatch a domestic brood from them.

"I wish to make this plain so that no one will be misled to his own undoing."

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS AS HE STARTS TO PREACH.

Versailles, Ky., Oct. 10.—The Rev. Dr. William G. McCready, general missionary of the Episcopal Church in the diocese of Lexington, had a slight cerebral hemorrhage in the pulp of St. John's church here this morning and is in a serious condition at the Woodford Hospital. The Rev. Dr. McCready was for nine years rector of St. John's and the announcement he would preach there to-day attracted a large congregation. He had just announced his text when he said, "I cannot preach a sermon, I am growing weak." He fell into the arms of several men who ran to his assistance. The Rev. Dr. McCready's right side is partially paralyzed. His wife and eldest son, Stephen McCready, hurried to his bedside from Winchester, their home. The Rev. Dr. McCready is a widely known divine. Until recently he was rector of a large church in Brooklyn. His youth was spent in Louisville, the Rev. Richard L. McCready, that city, is his cousin.

The foregoing has local interest from the fact that Dr. McCready was in this city a few weeks ago. He was arranging for a series of sermons or addresses to be delivered here some time during this month. He is a man of fine scholarship and a preacher of great ability.

BIG TRAIN ROBBERY.

Early last Friday morning two masked men held up a passenger train on the B. & O., detached the engine from the train, covered the crew with revolvers, and made a clear get-away with 93 registered packages of mail. The amount of the loot is estimated at not less than $100,000, and postal authorities admit it may be $1,000,000. The packages were taken from pouches that had not been opened. The money had been sent from the Treasury to various western banks. Central Station is in Doddridge-co., in the Wheeling section of West Virginia.

As soon as the robbery became known every agency of the command of the railroad and the Government that could be employed was put into use. Various "clues" were run down, but so far the bold bandits have not been captured. It is thought by some that the robbers were either connected with the Government in some capacity or had valuable inside information from those were were.

CRITICALLY ILL.

The venerable Mrs. Jane McClure, of Gallup, lies at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. T. Atkinson, of Paintsville, in a very critical condition. The trouble appears to be a sort of blood poisoning, manifesting itself by painful sores on various parts of her body. Just now the worst one is on her left foot, involving one or more toes, and, so far, it has baffled all efforts to cure it or to lessen the severity of the pain. In fact, the trouble seems to increase with time. The situation is so grave that Dr. Atkinson, the attending physician, considers Mrs. McClure's condition very critical. She is in her 86th year. Her son, L. T. McClure, of this city, went to see his mother recently and passed some time at her bedside.

PAROLED BY STATE BOARD.

Among those recently paroled by the Prison Commissioners are Oscar Tibbs, Pike-co., two to seven years for detaining a woman, and Jay Kolley, Lawrence, two to five years for grand larceny.

MARRIED.

Mr. Boyd Jarrell, editor of the Huntington Herald-Dispatch, and Miss Ella Forrest Taylor, who has also been connected with the Herald-Dispatch for several years, were united in marriage at high noon recently.

STANLEY GREETED BY LARGE CROWD.

PLAYS MORROW FOR REFUSING TO TAKE SADDLE WHEN CALLED UPON.

Hindman, Ky., Oct. 6.—Escorted by a crowd of 300 men on horseback, who met him three miles out of town, A. O. Stanley, the Democratic nominee for Governor, rode triumphantly into Hindman to-day on a mule. He came from Prestonsburg, which is sixteen miles away, accompanied by former Congressman Frank Hopkins, who lives in Prestonsburg.

The fact that Edwin P. Morrow, the Republican candidate, canceled his speaking date at Hindman, when he found he had to travel mule-back, and that Stanley jumped at the idea, pleased the voters in this section. Telephone messages announced the approach of Stanley toward Hindman and a guard of honor was formed to ride three miles out and bring him in. When Stanley and his mule rode into view of the crowd they let out a yell and waved their hats in welcome. Another ovation was given the Democratic candidate when he entered Hindman at the head of his escort.

The news that he was to speak here to-day had spread throughout the surrounding country with the result that there was a holiday crowd on hand to greet him, and 1,500 assembled to hear him. Stanley did not disappoint them. He ridiculed Morrow for failing to make the trip to Hindman. He quoted Morrow's speech at Louisville, in which Morrow said he loved vine-covered cottages, and declared that if the Republican candidate so loved to mingle with country folk he would not hesitate to ride sixteen miles for that pleasure. He paid his respects to former Gov. Wilson. Mr. Stanley is spending to-night here and to-morrow will ride horseback to Hazard, about twenty miles away.

In his speech delivered here to-day Mr. Stanley said: "In a luxurious theater at Louisville the other day, Mr. Morrow grew poetic and ecstatic in the expression of his love and devotion to the plain people of the State. Former Gov. A. E. Wilson presided over that meeting and on one occasion Mr. Morrow turned to him and said, amid the cheers and applause of his sympathetic audience: 'Ah, Governor, as you and I have traveled up and down this State we have been in many a home with the vines growing up around the door and old-fashioned flowers leading down the walk and growing out in the corners of the old lattice fences; in many a home where the laughter of children rings through its halls; where love is king and queen with old-fashioned good cheer and hospitality; with pictures on the wall and 'God Bless Our Home' above the door, and a rocking chair and a center table, a dresser and an old washstand."

"You would think that his principal business in campaigning was to hunt the cottage and the cabin home and enjoy its good old-fashioned cheer. The trouble was, he was hunting cottages in the wrong company. Gus Wilson is the last man or philanthropist to study the lives of plain people unless he does it at long distance. I can see now my young and trustful friend, Morrow, guileless and unsuspecting, his little hand in the cadaverous clutch of this old political sinner, Gus Wilson, meandering through walks bordered by old-fashioned flowers and reading the mottoes above cottage doors.

"It is true that before Wilson's election he and Mr. Morrow did show some sort of sweetened mush all over the people of the State. That was before taking. It is interesting to note what Mr. Morrow's preceptor thought of the people who used old-fashioned dressers and washstands, and cheap center tables after he became Governor. There are in the mountains and in the 'Pennyville' hundred of happy homes where it is true that the furniture is cheap, the floors are bare or covered with rag carpet, where there are open fireplaces and cane bottom chairs, but those things do not interest the Republican spellbinders after they are elected.

"On June 4, 1908, the Hon. A. E. Wilson gave an authorized interview to a magazine writer, James B. Morrow—I do not know just what kin he was to Ed—in which he said, speaking of these same homes where love was king and queen before the election: 'A great many persons have told me they regretted the day when tobacco was brought into Kentucky. . . . The tobacco laborers, most of whom are white, are a distinct class in themselves. They generally live in huts, work very hard as do their women and children whom they compel to go into the fields, and as a rule are lawless and violent.'

"Mr. Morrow's preceptor showed his devotion to these places where old-fashioned flowers grow through lattice fences by sending armed militiamen among them to bully and to slay. In this same interview he said, speaking of these troops: 'They ride the roads after nightfall and do not sleep overmuch in day time. . . . Our militiamen have done everything possible to bring on the fight.'

"I do not believe Gus Wilson ever went very far out of his way with Ed Morrow to enter any cottage home. He is as much out of place in a cabin as a hog in a bathroom. Whatever they see of cottage homes and flowered walks, or hear of the laughter of children in humble halls, reach their eyes and ears as they ride smoothly over limestone boulevards in luxurious automobiles, or get by chance glimpses from a car window. Mr. Morrow's treatment of the voters of Hindman and his conduct at Prestonsburg abundantly establish the fact that he is not going to put himself to any physical inconvenience to hear the laughter of your children or to see any mottoes over your doors if he has to ride a mule or tackle a rough road to do it. He was billed, as I understand, to speak at Hindman, but when he got off the train at Prestonsburg he was told that to reach this place he would be compelled to ride sixteen miles on horseback. This news nearly broke his manly heart. He threw up those dainty little hands, by which Wilson was wont to lead him into the love of the poor and the humble, and an expression of pain and horror flitted over his sweet and comely face.

"Ride to Hindman," said Morrow, "why I would have to ride a mule to get there and that would put me out of business for the rest of the campaign!"

"So he canceled his appointment and you did not hear his sweet voice or enjoy his warbled eloquence. I cannot understand Mr. Morrow's objection to riding a mule. Any man who has ridden Franks as long as he has ought to feel at home on a mule. The only difference between Franks and a mule is, that the mule is bigger and has more horse sense. The cross gives him that I am not going to palaver or to get into ecstasies over any mottoes or washstands or dressers, nor how the flowers grow about the walk, but I take no count of a slight inconvenience in riding a mule only sixteen miles and over a fair road, to have the pleasure of looking into the faces of the sturdy Democracy of Kott county that does not know how to scratch a ballot and has never failed or faltered in its devotion to Democracy."

"CASCARETS" FOR A COLD, BAD BREATH OR SICK HEADACHE

BEST FOR LIVER AND BOWELS,
FOR BILIOUSNESS, SOUR
STOMACH AND CON-STIPATION.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Furred Tongue, Bad Colds, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

ORGANIZATION TO FIGHT CHOLERA.

In an effort to assist the farmers of Kentucky in controlling hog cholera, the Experiment Station is organizing throughout the State Anti-Hog Cholera Clubs.

Dr. H. K. Wright of the Experiment Station said, "Before we can hope to control hog cholera we must have an accurate understanding among hog raisers as to the cause of the disease and how it is spread and the sanitary methods to be employed to successfully combat it. In order to best accomplish this end Anti-Hog Cholera Clubs are being organized throughout the State."

"Since the fifth of May thirty-seven such clubs have been organized. These have a total membership of six hundred and eleven farmers, all of whom have signed the membership cards

A NEW SKIN.

Snakes throw off their outer skin once a year. Human beings change their skin perhaps nine times in a year; that is, they have a new skin about once in six weeks.

The value of a clean skin in maintaining health is not properly understood by the majority of people. Cleanliness is a part of health. You cannot be healthy unless you are clean not only externally, but also internally.

The blood should also be assisted occasionally, like the skin, in throwing off poisons so that the system may not get clogged and leave a weak spot for disease germs to enter the system. When the blood is clogged, we suffer from what is commonly called a cold.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood and eradicates the poisons that breed and feed disease. It is best for scrofula, eczema, boils, pimples and other eruptions that mar and scar the skin. Pure blood is essential to good health. The weak, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people experience is commonly the effect of impure blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery not only cleanses the blood of impurities, but it increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and it enriches the body with an abundant supply of pure, rich blood.

Take it as directed and it will search out impure and poisonous matter in the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys and drive it from the system through the natural channels.

RIGHT HERE IN KENTUCKY.

Louisville, Ky.—"For all of ten years I have depended on Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. My husband and I both use them. They are the best remedy for biliousness and constipation. I am a practical nurse and I know what I say. I gladly recommend them."—Mrs. A. CHADWICK, 2405 Bank St.

Constipation causes and seriously aggravates many diseases. Then regulate stomach, liver and bowels by taking Dr. Pierce's Pellets.

and expressed their willingness to aid in controlling hog cholera. So far the movement has met with the approval and hearty cooperation of the farmers in all sections visited, and it is hoped through the organization of these clubs to build up a strong organization to fight hog cholera."

"The membership card is a pledge in itself and serves the double purpose of outlining briefly the sanitary precautions to be observed and it also results in the establishment of a permanent organization. The Experiment Station in carrying out this work obtains an up-to-date list of farmers with whom to cooperate."

The pledge is: "I hereby agree to cooperate with my neighbors to aid in controlling and eradicating hog cholera in this community by observing the following principles: 'Burn or bury at least four feet deep and cover with lime all dead hogs. 'Quarantine all sick hogs and shut them up so that birds, dogs, and people cannot get to them. 'Notify my neighbors when I have cholera on my premises. 'Clean up and disinfect my hog houses and hog lots. 'Keep my hogs in sanitary condition, free from lice and worms. 'Whenever it is possible a stereopticon lantern is used in lecture work so that we can actually show sanitary and unsanitary conditions, the lesions of the disease, the methods of its spread, how to clean up and disinfect, and also when to use and how to properly administer hog cholera serum."

"It is surprising to note the large amount of money which is being thrown away by farmers in attempts to buy some remedy which will cure hog cholera. It has been proven many times that there is absolutely no remedy which can be depended upon to cure this disease. We will aid the farmer materially by teaching the folly of attempting to cure hogs sick of cholera."

"The greatest stress is laid on sanitation, the isolation and quarantine of suspicious animals, the burning of diseased carcasses, the cleaning up following the disease, and the use of hog cholera serum is strongly recommended when necessary to save hogs in immediate danger of infection."

"The work of organizing clubs and of fighting hog cholera will be continued. Applications for lectures in any community or for information relative to hog cholera should be addressed to the Experiment Station, Lexington, Ky."

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months."

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.

At all druggists.

REMEMBER THIS SALE IS NOW AT ITS BEST

The Greatest Sale in the History of Louisa

Opened October 9th

Hundreds of people waited for admission to Jake's store. Fifteen minutes after the opening of our store it was jammed with eager buyers grabbing at the bargains. But am very sorry that we could not accommodate all the people with our big force of sixteen clerks. We could not possibly wait on half of the people, so it seems like there must be awful values at Jake's store. The people that could not be waited on are coming back daily, and grabbing at the great bargains. Thousands of dollars worth of merchandise have been sold so far, but thousands of dollars worth are still left and more new goods are arriving daily.

Competition is knocking us, saying hard things about us, but we have no apology to make. We have the goods and they must be sold by Saturday, Oct. 23rd. If you want real bargains just follow the crowd and come to Jake's store. Pay no attention to knockers. If you do you lose money by it. Everybody knows that Jake's is the leading store in town. Others try to follow but they can't make it. Therefore come to Jake's store.

Therefore take advantage of this remarkable money saving sale

WE JUST RECEIVED A SAMPLE LINE OF MEN AND BOYS HATS AND CAPS

consisting of over 600, at less than half of wholesale cost. They will be placed on sale beginning Saturday morning, Oct. 16th. Will continue until Saturday, Oct. 23rd. That will be the last day of our sale.

MORE DRESSES. SUITS COATS, ETC.

arrived this week and placed on sale at ridiculously low prices. Remember Saturday, Oct. 23rd is the last day of our sale. So don't wait, but come at once.

BE SURE AND BE HERE NEXT SATURDAY, OCTOBER 16th, AS THERE WILL BE SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS ON THAT DAY.

MOTHER! GIVE CHILD "SYRUP OF FIGS" IF TONGUE IS COATED

IF CROSS, FEVERISH, SICK, BILIOUS, CLEAN LITTLE LIVER AND BOWELS.

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.
A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.
Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR, DOUBLE ITS BEAUTY

TRY THIS! HAIR GETS THICK,
GLOSSY, WAVY AND BEAUTIFUL
AT ONCE.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

FARMS FOR SALE IN A FARMING COUNTRY.

I can offer you the best proposition in a farm you ever seen. I handle more land than any other dealer and get more good farms for sale. I have them in the two Scioto Valleys and in the Pine Creek Valley, all rank first in the production of corn and are not far behind in wheat, oats, etc., and no country can boast of better roads, schools, churches and markets than Scioto county can sure if you want a cheap farm I have it but remember most of the low priced farms are not located on good pikes, but many are on good roads and handy. Come and see me or write for information. Will answer all letters. Will board you while you look and see that you get a square deal if you write me you are coming please come when you say you will for if I can't be at the station will have some one to meet you and that is expensive. I meet the trains rain or shine, you will miss it if you buy before you look over my farms. I have the very best there is in the country for sale, most all my farms are located handy to railroad stations. If you are going to make a change come to Scioto county, Ohio, by all means we want gardeners, farmers, stock raisers, teamsters all are welcome and there is a good living if you will act while the opportunity is knocking at your door. Write me when to meet you at Sciotoville and tell me what train you will be on. Address all letters to,

A. J. SCOTT.

Above is a picture of A. J. Scott, Democratic nominee for Representative in the Legislature of Kentucky from the counties of Lawrence and Boyd. He is farmer and a good citizen. In both theory and practice he is a temperance man. He stands for the right in all matters of public policy, and as your Representative he could be depended upon at all times.

James Whitcomb Riley's 66th birthday was celebrated all over Indiana Thursday of last week.

With clocks in their stockings and watches on their ankles women should be able to be on time, but are they noted for punctuality?

The Boston American base ball team defeated the Philadelphia National league club four games out of five and won the world's championship.

Hon. A. O. Stanley continues to have large crowds wherever he goes and always arouses much enthusiasm. He is speaking every day and will have visited nearly all the counties again by election day.

Reports from all parts of Eastern Kentucky say the candidacy of Judge James D. Black, of Barbourville, for Lieutenant Governor, has added much strength to the Democratic State ticket. He is a man of such ability and character as to command respect everywhere.

The sentiment in Kentucky is strongly in favor of President Wilson's wise and able administration of affairs through the greatest crisis the world has ever experienced. He has guided the United States safely and with honor through some very dangerous places, avoiding war, but standing firmly for our contentions and winning out in every instance. The larger Kentucky goes Democratic this fall the greater endorsement it will be for Mr. Wilson's great work.

Telephoning 4400 miles without wires is the latest and most wonderful achievement in the field of science. It was only a few months ago that the first satisfactory talking over a wire line was done between New York and San Francisco. Right upon the heels of that great feat comes the startling announcement that wires are unnecessary, and to prove it the inventors proceeded to converse between New York and Honolulu.

The engagement of President Wilson to a Washington widow, Mrs. Norman Galt, is announced. It is expected the wedding will take place about the first of December. Mrs. Galt is a Virginia woman, age 38. Her husband died eight years ago. The President is 20 years her senior. She is described as bright, very cheerful, and quite beautiful. The President's daughter is an intimate friend and introduced Mrs. Galt to her father. Mrs. Wilson died Aug. 6, 1914.

Rev. H. B. Hewlett.

In thinking of the election which will take place on November 2nd do not forget to say a word to your neighbors in the interest of Rev. H. B. Hewlett, candidate for Circuit Court Clerk of Lawrence county. This is not one of the best paying offices in the county, but is sufficient to sustain economically a man who has passed beyond the years of natural activity. Rev. Hewlett gave the best years of his life to the ministry, and is still answering calls of this kind along with his work as clerk. A second term is needed and will be appreciated by him.

The chance of a lifetime is now before old Kentucky to do homage to the cause of pure and honest elections. The democratic ticket offers a great opportunity to clarify and promulgate a law that will make the grand old state proud of itself. If there be any flaws in the way our present system is carried on, to get at the will of the majority, then by voting under the rooster you have the chance to remedy all evils now existing, with our system of voting. Times are changing and so are conditions and if a truly perfect election law can possibly be framed for the benefit of all parties, let the democrats do it.

For upwards of two years Mr. Stanley has been on the go. How many men could retain a voice and physical strength that he has gone through. Not one in thousands. This shows to the hard working man who has to labor day in and day out to support a large family that Owsley Stanley never shirks work. He has always been a man of iron. He never plays, but enjoyment comes to him when he is toiling away for the cause of the horny sons of labor. Remember this ye voters and do not forget that the democratic candidate for governor can live with or without kid gloves.

The Owensboro Messenger declares Ed. Morrow does not really hope to be Governor but is making the race as a preliminary to defeating Caleb Powers for the Republican nomination for Congress from the Eleventh District, in which laudable undertaking he has the good wishes of all Democrats and many Republicans.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Saloons, hotel and restaurant bars were closed here today for the first Sunday in forty-four years as a result of an order by Mayor Thompson for the police to enforce a state law, which had been ignored so long as almost to have been forgotten. The 7,512 saloons have been regulated under city ordinance, which required only that they be closed between 1 and 5 o'clock in the morning.

Recognition for Carranza was agreed upon at a conference of A. E. C. envoys following Secretary Lansing's announcement that the United States intended to take this step. The action of the Pan-American diplomats means that the United States will give Carranza moral support and will lay an embargo on arms to the opposing factions. Villa, when told of Carranza's recognition, said, "The war is just beginning."

It is said that Stanley is so pleased with his reception in the mountain counties that he probably will urge the campaign managers to include that section in the itinerary of the campaign train, which will tour the State during the week just before election. Heretofore this train has gone into the western part of the State, but it is probable that this year three days will be spent on the west and three in the east. Some of the most prominent speakers in the national Democratic party will be on the train, including Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois; Senator Ollie James, of Illinois; Senator Heflin, of Alabama; Senator Kern, of Indiana, once a candidate for Vice President, and former Gov. Cox, of Ohio, and Stanley wants his Eastern Kentucky supporters to hear them.

TWO DEMOCRATIC YEARS.

In his speech at St. Joseph, Mo., Speaker Clark made a good showing for the democratic party. Perhaps it would be more accurate to say, as the speaker really says, that the democratic party has made a wonderful showing for itself and he has only told in part of what it has done. The old pretense that the democratic party was a party of negation only has been completely exploded for as the speaker says, the party in two years has enacted more constructive legislation than the republican party placed on the statute books in two decades, and as he also says it did it with the help of a considerable number of republicans. Practically all the new laws the democrats enacted were stronger than the party for they passed by majorities larger even than the large majorities by which the democrats control Congress.

The democrats legislated on subjects on which, in a general way, the republicans promised legislation without keeping their promises. Their promises were never intended to be kept, as may be judged by the fact that they were not definite as well as by the further fact that they were not kept. The republicans had long pretended that they would revise the tariff downward but they did not do it. They had long admitted that our currency system was the worst ever devised and promised to change it, but beyond a little tinkering they made no changes. We doubt whether there is a man in the United States who will say that the currency law that the democrats placed on the statute books is not better than the republican law it displaced. We have not seen such an assessor. The democratic law has met with very little adverse criticism and so far as we know the republican law has not found one defender.

ON A COLD TRAIL.

The Republican outlook is rather cheerless. There are no such conditions as were manifest eight years ago when all the enthusiasm was on the Republican side and Democrats were cheerless and indifferent. Today the Democratic party is united, buoyant and working. There are no bolters or sulkers. There is no discontent growing out of the primary. State and local candidates, here as elsewhere, are working assiduously and harmoniously for success, while among the masses there is a resolute determination to give President Wilson a hearty vote of confidence.

Mr. Morrow and his Republican brethren are on a cold trail in Kentucky.—Owensboro Messenger.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED AT OCTOBER MEETING

Of Executive Committee of Kentucky Mine Owners Association.

In connection with certain radical advances in freight rates already determined upon by a number of railroads serving competitive coal fields in West Virginia and elsewhere, it is proposed that railroads serving Kentucky's coal fields, similarly advance their rates, and thereby place an additional burden on practically every ton of coal moving from Kentucky to markets north of the Ohio river. Meanwhile rates on coal mined in certain northern coal fields are not to be advanced.

The coal industry of Kentucky during the past several years has increased, until it is first among the industries of the State in point of number of people employed, and second in point of the value of its annual output. Its recent growth has been almost altogether due to securing new markets in the territory to which this proposed rate advance would apply. The extension by Kentucky railroads and their connections of the advanced rates in view, would place a handicap on the further extension of these Northern markets, and even threaten the retention of those that have been won after long struggles against many difficulties.

The Kentucky Mine Owners Association therefore wishes to make known its earnest opposition to any advance in freight rates on Kentucky coal, and hereby enters its solemn protest against the increase now being proposed.

BUMPER CHESTNUT CROP IN MOUNTAINS.

Whitesburg, Ky., Oct. 9.—Pedestrians arriving here from points in the Stone, Black and Cumberland mountains east of here along and contiguous to the Kentucky-Virginia border say there is a bumper chestnut crop—the best in years, ripening in the mountains. Already many people are going into the mountains from the settlements to gather them. They are selling for from $1.25 to $1.50 a bushel.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The press of the entire country is today conceding what was asserted weeks ago in these dispatches that the handling by President Wilson of the Arabic and other incidents which threatened to make trouble between this country and Germany would stamp him as the master diplomat of the age, and that not only the United States, but the world would so term him. The agreement reached between this country and Germany, as the result of representations just made by Count Von Bernstorff, not only means continued friendly relations between the two nations, with the possibility for further incidents such as that of the Arabic almost out of the question, in view of Germany's pledges, but it means that peace with honor, which was the President's aim was not the dream which those who were clamoring for war were pleased to call it.

The President has won, not only a great victory for peace, but he has won such a personal victory in his capacity of leader of the Democrats of the country as to make him even more than ever their one and only offering for the presidency in 1916.

LAWSUIT OVER FLOYD COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

The Floyd County Democratic Committee, of which A. J. May is chairman, had brought suit in the Franklin Circuit Court against the State Board of Election Commissioners to require the board to reassemble and appoint a Democratic election officer for that county from the list of five names submitted by the committee.

When the election board met to appoint county commissioners, Judge D. W. Gardner, who defeated W. H. May, brother of the Floyd county chairman, for the Democratic nomination for Judge in the Thirty-first district, appeared before the board and protested against the selection of a county election commissioner from the list submitted by May's committee, charging that the chairman was unfriendly to him and that the list was unsatisfactory from a party viewpoint.

After listening to both sides, the State Board concluded by selecting Walter S. Harkins, who was recommended neither by the committee nor Judge Gardner. The question involved in this suit is whether the direction of the statute that the State Board shall appoint county election commissioners from lists of five submitted by the county committees is mandatory or only directory.—State Journal.

Tri-State Association.

The 10th annual convention of the Tri-State Association of L. O. O. F. was held at Huntington on last Wednesday. One of the most interesting features of the convention was the magnificent parade of more than 800 Odd Fellows from Kentucky and West Virginia. Holden had 95 members in the parade and won the prize for having the largest membership in the parade. Wayne lodge was second having 65 members in the line of march.

Get Scholarships.

The state department of schools has announced that Miss Ivy Lee Myers, of Huntington had won the Bowman scholarship to Peabody college for teachers at Nashville, Tenn., and that Helen Powale of Keyser had been awarded the West Virginia Federation of Women's club's scholarship in the West Virginia University. Each scholarship is awarded for high averages in teachers' examination.

Epidemic At Omar.

It is reported that a diphtheria epidemic is raging in the vicinity of Omar and upper Main Island Creek and that a number of deaths, most of whom were children, have resulted.

Three children in one family are said to have succumbed, and in other families two and three members are ill. The Omar school is closed and heroic measures are being taken to stamp out the dread disease, but it has not yet been brought under control.—Logan Democrat.

West Virginia to Receive $121,859.

The U. S. department of agriculture at Washington has just made public figures showing the amount of funds which will be available for the fiscal year to carry on the work of the agriculture extension department in West Virginia. The total amount set aside for this state is $121,859 of this a part will come to Wayne county.

A part of this amount is used for paying one-half of the county agents salaries, and the rest is used for educational purposes, teaching the farmers and giving demonstrations for their benefit.

Brewery.

Huntington, W. Va., Sept. 27.—Mike Eesenmeier, vice-president of a large Baltimore brewery, stated here that it is assured the plant of the old West Virginia Brewing Company, put out of business in Huntington by the prohibition laws will be converted into a meat packing establishment and put in operation about January 21. It will represent an investment of $50,000 in addition to the buildings and refrigeration plant already in existence. It is planned to do an interstate business. The establishment will create a market here for hogs and cattle.

WHAT EXCUSE HAVE YOU?

Say, friend, what excuse have you for not going to church? There are four churches in Louisa. In each of these is a preacher of more than ordinary ability. The company you will find there is made up of good men and women. The exercises consist of good preaching, good singing and honest heartfelt praying. To hear these edifying things costs you nothing but a voluntary contribution. You are not asked for a cent. An atmosphere of great security from ill pervades these places, yet there are scores upon scores of people in this town who have not been inside a church of any kind for years. Make an effort to go next Sunday and set a good example for yourself and others. Why not?

PRICHARD, W. VA.

Hobart Gilkinson, son of Frederick and Mary Gilkinson, died Oct. 5th, 1915, age 18 years and 3 months. His life here was short. He died with that dread disease, consumption. He left a fine testimony and told his father and mother to go to praying and get ready to meet him in heaven. He prayed until his last hours and had his aunt and others to sing for him. He was well liked by everybody, a kind and gentle boy to all, to old folks especially. He loved his grandmother above all others and made his home with her much of the time.

R. E. Stone and wife returned home Monday after attending the funeral of Hobart Gilkinson. All of his half-brothers and sisters attended the funeral.

A FRIEND.

WHAT IS THE REMEDY?

The amount of whiskey which is daily brought to Louisa is very large. Most of it comes via the N. & W. and is brought to Louisa in suit cases and other containers. It is not brought here to be looked at, but to be consumed—and it finds its way to the inside of willing stomachs. The laws of West Virginia forbid its importation into that State, but it gets there, all the same, else it could not get to Fort Gay. The bootleggers get it to this side without any trouble whatever, and the sober people of the town are the sufferers. What is the remedy?

THE HOME CIRCLE AND ITS INTERESTS

Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join The Home Circle at Evening Tide.

Bedtime.
Wee Golden Hair is sleepy,
As tired as she can be,
So she says, with many a sigh
And climbs upon my knee.
She coaxes for a story,
In drowsy tones and sweet,
I hug her close up to my heart,
And oft-told tales repeat.
At last the joyous laughter
Is hushed in dreamless rest;
I clasp the little dimpled feet
That no rough path have pressed.
I smooth the tangled tresses,
I kiss her cheek and brow,
And I pray her evening time may Come
As peacefully as now.

Are all the little children in Thy arms,
O Lord, tonight,
Safe from the roaring battle and the
thunder of the fight?
Are all the little children tucked away
until the morn'
Beyond the bitter trouble, and the conflict and the scorn?

For if they are, God rest us,
We'll be happy every one,
That they are on Thy bosom,
Whom He loved so much, Thy Son!

Are all the little children cuddled up
upon Thy breast?
To dream the starry night away in
bloomy fields of rest?

Are all the little children safely in
from romp and play,
With loved arms clasped around them
as they kneel at night to pray?

Oh, if they are, we're happy,
And we'll lie ourselves to dream
With faith's great temple o'er us,
And the lights of love-angelism.

Are all the little children 'neath the shelter of Thy wing?
Oh, Lord, of all the children in the rosy lanes of spring?

Are all the little children kissed and comforted tonight
Beyond the darkling demons of the factions and the fight?

Then, we at last may follow,
And be happy, and be sure
Of strength to toil and love them,
And to suffer and endure.

—The Benztown Bard.

So great is the influence of sweet-minded woman on those around her that it is almost boundless. It is to her that folks come in seasons of sorrow and sickness for help and comfort,
one soothing touch of her kindly hand
works wonders in the feverish child;
a few words let fall from her lips in
the ears of a sorrowing sister do much to raise the load of grief that is bowing its victim down to the dust in anguish. The husband comes home worn out with the pressure of business, and feeling irritable with the world in general; but when he enters the cozy sitting room, and sees the blaze of the bright fire, and meets his wife's smiling face, he succumbs in a moment to the soothing influences which act as the balm of Gilead to his wounded spirits, that are wearied
with combating with the stern realities of life. The rough school boy flies in a rage from the taunts of his companions to find solace in his mother's smile; the little one, full of grief
with its own large trouble, finds a haven of rest on its mother's breast; and so one might go on with instances of the influence that a sweet minded woman has on the social life with which she is connected. Beauty is an insignificant power compared with hers.

Never carry your business home
with you. Transact it at your store or office, and leave its cares, perplexities and troubles there. Do not let its worries influence you at home, to fret yourself and those around you. The mind at home should be directed in a channel to interest and instruct and freshen and strengthen and prepare it for the duties of the morrow. All work and no play makes Jack a dull
boy, and all business and no recreation lessens the capacity, power and strength of the mind to do the necessary thinking for conducting business successfully.

There are husbands and wives,
whose love is so deep that each cares
only to have what will go best for the other and for their children. These men and women belong to no particular class; they are to be found among the highly educated and luxurious classes, in the great middle classes and among the laboring people. Such folks are honest in their affections,

honest with each other and honest with the world. Their homes are not places for show, but what the name implies—place of rest, happiness and inspiration of good work. These homes may consist of only two or three rooms or they may be places
yet the influence is always good. It is such homes that make the world
sweeter and better, and experience shows us that they are common to our country.

Often times the most discouraging criticism is received at home, the very last place from which it should come. As a flower loves the dew, and as it turns its face to the sun, so the soul seeks appreciation and yearns for sympathy. No one can do his best work unless there is some one believes in him. Encouragement is the best known tonic. It strengthens the soul as well as the body. Then never be afraid, oh woman, of being too lavish of praise of husband or children. If a loved one does something well, do not be afraid to say so,
or if you must criticize do it gently,
lovingly, at the same time showing
him that you believe he can do better.

Remember, when assailed by affection and, could we but see aright,
many apparent calamities are but blessings in disguise. Hope is a better companion than fear and morning is even the daughter of night. Whatever is, is right; presumption alone
would avert the hand of providence.
Give us, oh, give us, the man who sings at his work. Be his occupation
what it may be is superior to those who follow the same pursuit in silent sullenness. He will do more in the same time, he will do it better, he will persevere longer. One is scarcely sensible of fatigue while one marches to music. The very stars are said to make harmony as they revolve in their spheres.

It is hard for a mother to believe that her children are made of the same kind of clay as those across the street.

No household is complete without a sister. She gives the finish to the family.

We see the scores of handsome faces where we find one that is truly happy.

Keep a stiff upper lip, and rise above
the clouds of adversity, tho' they threaten momentarily to overwhelm
you. Thus may you be led to forget your precarious position, until soon a ray of hope penetrates the obscurity,
all darkness disappears, and the day
dawns forth with renewed brilliancy.

Don't allow your mind to dwell on dismal themes, lest a gloomy imagination runs away with you. It always augments grief and magnifies misfortune.

Interest yourself in the present,
and diffuse the extra pleasures of the day through succeeding ones, in order to enliven the whole week.

Preserve the memory of past happiness until sure of a fresh supply, but never place yourself in the position to lose sight of both. It is as oppressive
as the darkness of a total eclipse.

There is no tear shed for the old bachelor; there is no ready hand and kind heart to cheer him in his loneliness and bereavement; there is none
in whose eyes he can see himself reflected, and from whose lips he can receive the unflinching assurances of care and love. He may be courted for his money; he may eat, drink and revel; and he may sicken and die in a hotel or garret, with plenty of attendants about him, like so many commoners, waiting for their prey; but he will never know the comforts of the domestic frieze.

The Well Bred Girl

She doesn't talk loud in public places.

She does not accept a valuable present from any man unless she expects to marry him.

She doesn't say she hates women,
and she has some good true friends
among them.

She does not speak of her mother in a sarcastic way, and she shows her
the loving deference that is her due.

She doesn't want to be a man, and
she doesn't try to imitate him by wearing stiff hats, smoking cigars, and using slang.

She doesn't scorn the use of the needle and expects some day to make clothes for very little people who will be very dear to her.

She doesn't shove and push to get the best seat, and she doesn't wonder why in the world people carry children in the cars and why they permit them to cry.

Be as courteous at home as you are abroad; respect your family as you wish to be respected. Don't save all your smiles for strangers and all your frowns for home. You will never regret the kindness you have shown,
while your thoughtlessness and indifference to your own may reap a bitter harvest. Life would be smoother in many a home if everybody would endeavor to understand his or her neighbor in the home, and if everybody were taken at the best and not at the worst.

Doubtless thousands of young people, and not a small number of older ones, wish every day of their lives that they could learn the secret of fascinating others by means of their graceful, equilibrated manner. The secret is an open one. It is easy to learn that it lies all neglected by the wayside, while they who would give their dearest treasure to find it pass unknowingly.

It is only this: Fill your heart with good will toward everybody, and then
practice at all times the best manners
you know, particularly at home. If you begin at home, this charming manner will, so to speak, get settled on you and never leave you. Be just as polite to your sister as you would
to your best girl. Strive to gain the good will of mother, father, and brothers, and sisters, and children, exactly

as you strive to gain good will abroad.
A noble purpose, a brave spirit, and a patient soul can never be defeated
in the battle of life. Don't give up,
you will win yet.

UGH! ACID STOMACH, SOURNESS, HEARTBURN, GAS OR INDIGESTION

THE MOMENT "PAPE'S DIAPEP-SIN" REACHES THE STOM-ACH ALL DISTRESS
GOES.

Do some foods you eat hit back—
taste good, but work badly; ferment
into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or
Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes,
but what pleases you most is that it
strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods
without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure.
"Pape's Diapepsin" is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food,
your head clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment
you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

My Dear Lawrence County Friends:
I was requested to write a letter to our "Dear Big Sandy News," by my Louisiana friends, so each and every one could hear from me, and I was to give a brief story of my trip, which was an adventure to me, and probably would have been to quite a few of my friends.

On September 11, 1915, my sister
Margaret, Mr. Bowling and myself went to Cincinnati. Had a nice time and saw lots of new things. We spent a joyful two weeks visit with our relatives and friends at that place. Among the many interesting places visited at Cincinnati, I will mention only one,
that being of special interest to me, I refer to "Eden Park." We, the Jones family, prize this park very much, for our dear grandfather built the "Elsener Tower," which is the entrance of the park and the famous Water Tower. In this park beautiful green houses are located and at the lower edge. You can look upon our "Kentucky Hills," which seem like
"Home, sweet home."

On September 25th we boarded the train for our future home in California.
At 5 p. m. we arrived at Chicago, Ill.,
the largest city we have seen. We had a 6-hour stop here and saw the beautiful Lake Michigan, large hotels and fine homes. Also, other things too numerous to mention. At 11 p. m. we went to our train and took our births
so as to get a good night's sleep.

We passed through Omaha, and then Lincoln, Neb., the home of William Jennings Bryan. Monday morning we arrived at Denver, Colorado, and had a three hours stop. Here we breathed the purest air that we ever had, and
this came off the snow of the Rockies. We toured the city for a few hours and saw many interesting features.
I learned that it contained 230,000 people, most of whom were tourists and that it was called the "Queen City" of the plains. This is a famous convention and tourist center. They say they can boast of a clear bracing air and 320 days of sunshine a year. They had
miles of wide, clean asphalt streets,
and there were no wooden structures
in this city. One point of interest was the Capital building from which 200
miles of snowy range could be viewed.

Others were the Courthouse, one of our United States mints, the smelters,
public library, city park and Denver University.

The next place our attention was called to was "Castle Rock," built from Denver and east of Colorado's land marks in the days of old wagon
trains across the prairie before the time of steam roads. This had been washing away for centuries and was left in the form of a Castle, from which the town of Castle Rock gets its name. Ahead of this rock is a grand view of Pike's Peak for 37 miles. Palmer lake is 52 miles south of Denver and was formerly called a divide, as on the crest of this summit the waters divide, flowing northward into the Platte,
which empties into the Missouri and Southward into the Arkansas, as it finds its way into the Mississippi.
This lake was named in honor of General Palmer, the protector and builder
of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, recognized as the most beautiful scenic line in the world. Another important feature just a few miles ahead
is the "Elephant Rock" the most remarkable freak of nature in the Rockies. Nature's mysterious forces have fashioned out of a rock a gigantic likeness of an elephant, which is so true
to life as to be actually startling in realism, and one might imagine its having been transplanted from Indian jungles. Now we have come to Colorado Springs, and we took a drink of the purest water that could be had.
This came from Pike's Peak, whose hoary head is seen rising into the clouds in the distance. This city is 6,000 feet above sea level. Other important places are the "Garden of Gods" and picturesque Manitou, the paradise of the tourist. At Manitou
the ascent of Pike's Peak is 14,000 feet made by cog road. It was here that the Indians brought their sick before the advent of the white man naming
the place Manitou, after their Great Spirit. The next place we visited was Canon City, taking an open top observance car attached to daylight
trains during the summer season for the ride through the Canon and Royal

Gorge. Now we are in the interesting Royal Gorge—the narrowest portion of the passage. The wonderful Royal Gorge has been reached. Red granite and gneiss walls sparkling with mica,
towering aloft on either hand 2,627
feet. The sky is a thread almost ob-iterated by the jagged ramparts and the stars may be seen at mid-day. At the bottom flows the Arkansas river,
"The mother of the Royal Gorge." This river boils madly throughout its course.
At one point the hanging bridge, the width is but 10 yds. and the road bed
has been built out over the water.
This bridge is suspended parallel with the river by immense steel supporters
buried in the granite walls on either side. On the sides of this rough rugged gorge we could see mountain goats
climbing up this narrow pass that looked most impossible.

Now we have come to Leadville, near Mount Massive. This is where 1,100 men were killed in a silver mine
some years ago. Our tourist conductor gave us a large piece of the unrefined
ore that frame these silver mines.
During the night we crossed over Ternessee Pass, which took us 52 min. at this place. It was 10,242 feet above the sea level—the highest point on this route.

Immediately after leaving Leadville
the train plunges into the Black Canon
of the Gunnison to penetrate about 16 miles. It crosses and recrosses. The Canon walls reach a height of 2,000 ft.
and are characterized by many rifts
and by great masses of slide rock. To the right is a smoking mountain, an underground coal belt having been on fire for 20 years. Now we come to Green River, where we got some of the sweetest and nicest canteloupes that I ever tasted. Five years ago this spot was an arid waste, but it has been so irrigated that it produces most everything. At Salt Lake City we found a population of 92,777. This is called the Zion City of the Saints, is the capital of Utah and was founded in 1847
by the Mormon pioneers who had come overland from Illinois. Some of the sights are Temple Square, containing the chief Mormon buildings, the Temple, Tabernacle and Assembly hall.
Also the information bureau for the benefit of strangers joining this square
are the Beehive and Lion houses, formerly headquarters of Brigham Young the prophet. On the west and stretching north and south is the great Salt Lake, 100 miles long, 60 miles wide in some places, and six times saltier than the ocean. It is inhabited only by a minute shrimp. We crossed the Great Salt Lake in the early part of the night, and it was a beautiful moonlight night, so this was all anyone could desire. It was one large trestle
for the train to cross.

At Sparks, Nevada, we saw Indians
all at work, which looked strange to me for I thought they were all lazy,
as I had read about in our U. S. History. The next stop was at Reno, Nevada where they grant divorces on staying 3 mo., but I didn't feel like I wanted a divorce so soon, so we didn't stop long here. Our next stop brought us to California and we all began to feel good as it was nearing home.

After an interesting trip, we finally reached Pasadena, our destination.
We had been on the train so long that we had become acquainted with our conductor and wife and other family who had come from North Carolina, but at 11:30 p. m. I departed at the Union depot and the first to see was our auntie. We were taken to our home and after we had lunch it was 2 o'clock and all were ready to retire. I guess this ends our trip, but it was a good one. We found California as represented. It certainly is a land of sunshine and flowers. We are located in front of Mt. Lowe and Mt. Wilson
two very high peaks, but it is 15 miles from our home. Looks as if we were much nearer. We have visited a few places since we came Sunday morning. We took our lunch and went to Riverside which is a new park and all of its buildings are made out of palm leaves and covered with the palm leafed fans. Then we went to Buenos Aires which was two miles
and all along this way were millionaires. Just think! Two miles of millions on each side of the street. We spent a delightful evening at the gardens. It was given by Adolphus Busch some years ago. It was a garden for his children and its cozy nooks could be seen different objects representing stories, such as Cinderella, Red Riding Hood, the Aladdin, the miniature felderman. His home was lovely.

Wages are good here with a prospect of doing better. Everything to eat very low here. Houses are about like back east, but best of all most everything is built into the walls of the houses, so the furniture factories are doing less. Sleep in the open air and best of all breathe the pure mountain
air, and have a good breeze from the ocean. "This is the life." So why not Louisiana try it. Have fine schools and churches. Our children entered school
Monday. Principal and teachers fine.
All you have to do is furnish the children and they furnish the rest. Every kind of people go to school here, negroes, Mexicans, Japanese, Chinese,
Spaniards, and every other nation.

Would be glad to hear from my Louisiana friends. My address is MRS. J. E.
BOWLING, (formerly Alta Jones), 18
Fair Oaks Drive, Pasadena, Cal.

IN MEMORY.

Talmage Holton, the son of Mrs.
Hester Holton, of Blaine has fallen asleep. Wednesday morning about 7 o'clock, Oct. 6, 1915. The day time of his life has faded from the west and within his keen eyes can never be the trembling luster of another dawn. He was sick but a short time, but when the death angel said he should no longer live he sank peacefully to rest
with the bright and loving smile on his face. The corpse was taken to the church and funeral was preached by Revs. L. A. Walters and H. B. Hewlette.
Beautiful and appropriate songs were sung by the choir. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers and many beautiful flowers were laid on his coffin with gentle and loving hands
as tokens of love from those left to mourn his death.

Talmage was a bright, intelligent and industrious school teacher and loved and respected by all who knew him and he will be missed in his home,
Sunday school and church where you could so often hear him sing. Talmage will be missed by his dear mother, sister and two brothers. He is not dead
to them but shall be in their memory
a bright and guiding star, ever pointing them heavenward. In that still sad morning God saw a cause to call him home. He bore these away to thy home in heaven in his ever fatal grasp gone to his peaceful resting place. His work is done, his journey is ended, all his sufferings are over. Gone to his blest reward, his better home where toil and care are known no more.

His gentle and noble spirit has winged its way into the mystic regions of the great beyond, and we have left with us but revered memory of a tender heart, it was a noble and honest life. His ways and kindness has filled the lives of many with sunshine and gladness. Talmage sought to share the burdens of the weak and always offering a helping hand to the weary and distressed. Talmage's acts were generous deeds and has left in the heart of those he loved and helped a legacy of thanks. Talmage leaves behind him a dear and loving mother,
one sister and two brothers, beside his relatives and many friends to mourn
his loss.

Weep not, loved ones for dear Talmage as he told you while on his dying bed "he has gone home" but all
was done that loving hands could do

and in his last few hours of death he asked his mother to play the organ
for him and some beautiful songs were sung and played for him. He tried himself to sing and tell the "glad tidings" while in the hour of death.

At the age of 25 God saw cause to call him and bent his loving arms and clasped dear Talmage's hand and waited him beyond this vale of tears where sickness, pain nor death will come no more. Weep not loved ones for dear Talmage as those who have no hope for we know that heaven retains our treasurer.

The General Says:—

"There are some very good reasons why my business is bigger each year than it was the year before."

Some years ago asphalt roofing was sold at high prices because the volume was small and facilities were limited.

When the General entered the field he broke up the high price combine by taking advantage of all possible manufacturing economies, thereby reducing production costs to the minimum and at the same time making a roofing of unexcelled quality.

Eventually the General became recognized as the leader of the entire field, and today the best known and largest used brand in the world is

Certain-teed Roofing

The General's big success brought about an attempt by others to imitate his policies and prices, but they didn't have the General's wonderful facilities, nor his superior equipment, nor his big organization, and it was an economic impossibility for them to equal the General's quality and price. Consequently with the reduction in price there was a big reduction in quality, and these lower quality roofings began to be sold under labels that had formerly been used on better goods.

Today the market is flooded with low quality roofings, made to sell at cheap prices without regard to the service they will give. When you roof your building with Certain-teed you have a responsible manufacturer's guarantee of 5, 10, or 15 years according to whether the thickness is 1/2, 3/4, or 1 inch respectively. This is your advance assurance that Certain-teed will give you at least a definite guaranteed service. Beware of guarantees without responsibility behind them.

Certain-teed products are used and well known the world over. Consult your local lumber and hardware dealers. They will quote you reasonable prices.

URGENT WARNING AGAINST DIPHTHERIA.

Diphtheria in a fatal and epidemic form is officially reported from so many widely separated sections and countries, that this Board feels it to be its duty to sound a note of warning to parents, teachers and all other lovers of children of the danger, which is likely to increase in cool weather, and to again call earnest attention to the recognized methods of prevention which are so safe, practical and effective, if promptly and systematically adopted, the family, physicians, teachers and health officials intelligently co-operating, that it should be considered a reproach to whoever is responsible if the disease is permitted to get away from the first case and attack others in the family or community. In order to appreciate either the danger or the methods of prevention proposed, it must be recognized that this is a highly contagious and infectious disease, spread directly by the seed or germs from the throat or nose of some one who has it, or by persons or articles infected by such discharges. Until the foregoing facts are not only recognized as true, but are intelligently acted upon, health officials and physicians know that a high sick and death rate from this disease must continue. With a definite desire to do its full part in this health and life-saving work, this Board earnestly advises:

1. That when a child has sore throat it should be placed in a room remote from other children until a competent physician decides that it is not contagious, sending a specimen to the Laboratory for free examination when in doubt, but, without waiting to hear from this, if there are yellow-white patches in the throat or other evidences of diphtheria, administer at once 5,000 units of antitoxin if in the first day of the attack, and 7,000 or 10,000 units if later, every 6 hours and, at the same time use 1,000 units to immunize each exposed child or person. The Board always keeps supplies of the best fresh antitoxin on hand which can be sent to county or city officials and physicians at 50 cents, $1.00, $1.10 and $3.10 respectively for 1,000, 5,000, 7,000 and 10,000 unit packages, less than one-third the retail price, to be paid for directly to the manufacturer.

2. Notify the health officer at once, as the law requires, placard the house and keep all other children, all having the care of children, and all who go where children are away from it. Keep all children of the house from school or other children, unless they are immunized with antitoxin and rigidly excluded from the sick room. No one but the physician and nurse should enter the sick room, and they should use every precaution not to carry infection from it.

3. The discharges from the throat and nose are loaded with the germs or seeds of the disease and should be received on soft paper or cloths and immediately burned. All table utensils should be boiled, and all bed and body

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body, and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

linen should be boiled, or immersed for six hours in a strong solution of chloride of lime.

4. This isolation of the patient and care of the room, and of every person and thing coming out of it, including pet animals, should continue until the Laboratory findings show no germs in a second specimen, or for at least ten days after all symptoms have disappeared, and until he has had a disinfecting bath, including the hair, and been clad from the skin out in garments which have not been in the sick room.

5. After recovery or death all bedding and clothing should be boiled or burned, all furniture, ledges and wood-work scrubbed with hot soap suds, and, after ten days of free ventilation night and day, the room should be repainted and papered. Fumigation is a poor substitute for such thorough cleaning, but this and free white-washing may be used where the better way is impracticable.

6. In case of death, after it is dressed, the body should be wrapped in a sheet saturated in a disinfecting solution, and buried without public service, and, in giving notice of the funeral, ministers and newspapers should announce that the death was from diphtheria, and that children and those having the care of children should not attend.

To be effective, these precautions should be rigidly observed, even in suspicious cases, giving well children, schools and the community the benefit of all doubts. Imperfect isolation and destruction of the discharges, and cleansing of the room and its contents, or the taking of half-hearted use of antitoxin, are worse than useless, as they mislead all concerned into a false and often a fatal sense of security.

By order of the Board.

A. T. MCCORMICK.

UBIQUITY OF THE DIPHTHERIA BACILLUS.

Widespread Prevalence of This Germ Among Unsuspecting Persons.

It has long been known that diphtheria germs are present in the throats of many perfectly healthy persons and that many cases of this disease may be accounted for only by their infection from such "carriers." To what extent these germs occur among healthy persons has been a point that has never been definitely determined, some workers claiming that as many as one in every twenty persons carried these germs and distributed them more or less indiscriminately. To determine this point the U. S. Public Health Service conducted an investigation of the prevalence of diphtheria carriers in the city of Detroit during the winter of 1913-14. This investigation stands as one of the most thorough and painstaking researches of its kind.

Should this report be read by all of the inhabitants of Detroit over 4000 of them would recall the visit of the "Health Officer" who examined their noses and throats and took "cultures" from both locations.

In the laboratory of the officers of the Service examined the 8758 cultures taken from 4093 persons, five bacteriologists examined the "smears" from an average of 153 cultures a day. The results of this examination were that nearly one per cent—928 per cent—to be exact—of all the persons examined was found to carry diphtheria germs in their throat or nose or both.

One per cent does not ordinarily sound large to the average person, but let us see what it means to the individual. In time of epidemic prevalence probably one in every hundred persons he meets has diphtheria germs in his throat and in all probability on his hands and clothes as well, since it is one of the most common practices in the world to put the hand to the mouth. It is probable that the average individual in contact with a hundred or more persons every day and is hence practically daily exposed to infection with diphtheria. Some persons, mainly those remaining at home, associate with but few, but other members of the household are not so isolated. School children come in close contact often with more than a hundred others in a day. Occasionally one may even see a hundred persons on a single street car and none will doubt that many more than that number will come into the air of a moving picture theater during an evening.

To demonstrate further what one per cent means, let us see what are the actual figures. In 1914 the official census of Detroit was 537,650. One per cent of this is 5,376. It would be difficult indeed for any one living in Detroit to avoid contact with one, two, five or more of these 5,376 disseminators of diphtheria germs. Nor is there reason to believe that in time of epidemic the figures for any other large community are lower in proportion.

These data gathered by the Public Health Service, as well as data of the same nature obtained by other workers, demonstrate one of many reasons for personal care of the throat and nose, avoidance of too intimate contact with others, and the necessity of early preventive measures in the case of those suffering from "sore-throat" and lesions suspicious of diphtheria.

she put on "Gets-It," the corn was sure to go." Mary, like thousands of others, used to have a horrible, suffering, itchy, burning, and painful corn, irritating, salve, sticky tape, toe-separators, blood-bringing razors and knives. She says now there's no sense in it. Use "Gets-It" applied in 2 seconds. Easy, simple, new way—just painless corns gone! Millions are doing it. Never fails. You can wear smaller shoes now. You don't have to limp around any more, or walk on the side of your shoes to try to get away from your corn! You know for sure before you use "Gets-It" that the corn or callus is gone away. BROWN EYES.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

I or one of my deputies will on the 18th day of October, 1915, that being regular County Court day, offer for sale to the highest and best bidder at the front door of the Court House, in Louisa, Ky., between 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. the following described real estate, situated in the county of Lawrence, and State of Kentucky on the waters of Catts fork of Blaine creek, and bounded and described as follows, to-wit: Bounded on the north by the lands of David J. Thompson, and Lindsey Lester. On the south by the lands of A. J. Webb and Marion Hammonds. On the east by the lands of C. F. Smith and Jas. Prichard and on the west by the lands of Marion Hammonds and Isaac Wilson, said boundary is supposed to contain about 537 acres, be the same more or less, and being the same lands conveyed to Wm. Brainard by Jas. Watson, Val Watson, Geiger Estate and others, for a more definite description of said lands, reference is hereby made to the above deeds. Said lands are levied upon to satisfy a judgment of the Lawrence Circuit Court, in favor of Martha Roberts, Executrix of the estate of W. V. Roberts, deceased, against Wm. Brainard, for the sum of $770.00 with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent from the 11th day of March, 1914, until paid, and the further sum of $9.00 costs of this action, and for the costs of this sale said land will be sold subject to the following mortgages. Wm. Brainard and wife to Cochburn and Whaley Company for the sum of $3702.53 with interest thereon from the 17th day of April, 1915. Mortgage Book No. 17, Page 127, also a mortgage transferred by P. S. Fannin to Mrs. Kate Fannin, for the sum of $442.60 with interest from the 22nd day of April, 1911. Mortgage Book 10, Page 468, Lawrence County Court Records. Sale will be made on a credit of six months, the purchaser being required to execute a good and sufficient bond for the purchase price. Said bond having the force and effect of a replevin bond upon which no execution shall issue.

Given under my hand as Sheriff, this the 22 day of September, 1915.

R. A. STONE, S. L. C.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of an Execution issued from the office of the Lawrence Circuit Court, on the 29th day of September, 1915, in favor of Louisville Tin and Stove Company against J. C. Skaggs, for the sum of $27.96, with interest thereon from the 1st day of March, 1914, until paid; also the sum of $18.75 with interest thereon from the 12th day of February, 1914, until paid, and the further sum of $27.22, with interest thereon from the 1st day of April, 1914, until paid. Said sums and each of them bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, also the further sum of $8.50 costs of this action and $2.50 for copy of this transcript, and for the costs of this sale.

I, or one of my deputies will offer for sale at the front door of the Court House in Louisa, Ky., on the 18th day of October, 1915, that being regular County Court day between the hours of 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. the following described real estate, to-wit: A certain tract of land lying on Sugar Camp branch of Big Blaine creek, in Lawrence county, Ky., and bounded and described as follows, to-wit: On the north by the lands of J. C. Skaggs home tract and Leo Skaggs. On the south by the lands of M. P. Fyffe and Hunter Skaggs. On the east by the lands of J. C. Skaggs home tract. On the west by the lands of Jerry Skaggs. Said tract is supposed to contain about 100 acres, being the same land acquired by J. C. Skaggs of his father, Andy Skaggs, and levied upon as the property of J. C. Skaggs, to satisfy the above execution. Said sale will be made on a credit of three months, the purchaser being required to execute bond with good personal security, having the force and effect of a replevin bond, upon which no execution shall issue.

This the 29th day of Sept. 1915.

SLANDERS SET AT REST.

Gladys, Ky., Sept. 27, 1915.

To Whom It May Concern:

It will be remembered by the citizens of Irish creek and Catts fork was missing from our neighborhood. There was nothing thought of it until a year later, when John Leadman at that time was trading on money borrowed from E. M. Clevenger, and some remarks were made jokingly that it was the peddler's money. Later it became to be a talk and reached the ears of some of the black-hearted, lying curs of the Hyena type of our neighborhood, who since that time have been busy going from house to house bringing a bone and taking one, like most of such characters do, and putting forth every effort to blot the characters of honest, sober, industrious citizens, who are laboring with their hands to support and bring up their families in the fear of God. And with all this gossip these foolish outlaws were not satisfied and further intimated that at least twelve or fifteen of our best citizens and brothers in Christ into the same. Among this gossip is some office seekers of long standing who have won for themselves a reputation like that of a man wearing the stripes for an outrage too serious to mention.

Some time ago I through the U. S. mails inquired for the peddler in different States and counties by writing to clerks and postmasters, etc., and received the following information:

I have letters from other men who have seen and talked to the peddler in the last eighteen months, but I shall proceed no further, as this is enough to convince any honest citizen, and put to silence the ignorant and gossamer. My prayer to God is that this lost world may seek repentance, for we shall all appear before the judgment seat of Christ. 2nd cor., 5-10.

PIKE COUNTY NEWS

CITY DELIVERY

BEGINS NOVEMBER 1ST.

The postmaster at Pikeville has been instructed by the department at Washington to inaugurate the city mail delivery service here with one carrier on November 1st. This action was taken by the department promptly upon receipt of affidavits from authorities at Pikeville that the requirements of the department regarding preliminaries had been fully complied with.

This service will be what is called an experimental delivery, and will be, to all intents and purposes, the same as the service in larger cities.

WELL KNOWN TO "FIRST LADY."

Mrs. Norman Galt, bride-elect of President Wilson and the future "first lady of the land," is a former acquaintance of and student with Robt. L. Miller, Judge of the Pikeville Police Court. Judge Miller says Mrs. Galt was born and reared in the little town of Wytheville, Va., his home, and that they have gone to many dances together. But he settled at Pikeville and Mrs. Galt went to Washington after her marriage to Norman Galt, a wealthy jeweler of the capital city. She was formerly Miss Edith Bolling, and was a direct lineal descendant of Princess Pocahontas, daughter of Powhatan.

That a descendant of Pocahontas, who was no hippenated American, should become the first lady of the land is, indeed, a romance of American history that cannot be excelled for originality.

SEN. JAMES COMING.

Senator Ollie James, the big Kentuckian who stands high in his party's councils, is scheduled to arrive at Pikeville to deliver an address October 18. Just what he will have to say is not known, but it is said he will launch a definite response to the speech delivered here some weeks ago by Hon. Edw. P. Morrow, Republican nominee for Governor.

ELSWICK NOMINATED; CONTEST CASE APPEALED.

A mandatory injunction was granted in the Circuit Court here last Friday which places the Democratic nomination for Circuit Clerk of Pike-co. in the hands of K. B. Elswick, who received the nomination without opposition at the August primary.

After receiving the unopposed nomination Elswick quit the race allegedly under the enforced dictation of politicians of his party, and claimed that promises were given him that no other should take his place. Some days after his withdrawal to fill the vacancy the Democratic committee met and endorsed Mr. Samuel T. Isom, a school teacher of Shelby creek, as a suitable candidate for the nomination. As soon as Elswick learned of this he resorted to his claim to the nomination and filed suit asking a mandatory injunction against the county clerk to compel the said clerk to place his name on the ballot, and also asked that Isom be restrained from taking further steps as the nominee. Elswick's demands were granted by the Circuit Court, and Isom, the ousted nominee, asked the Appellate Court at Frankfort to reverse the case and believes that in view of Elswick's withdrawal, leaving the nomination vacant, he has a perfect right to it. This is denied by Elswick upon statutory grounds.

The court Tuesday decided that the nomination rightfully belonged to Isom.

A CORRECTION.

It was by error stated last week that the Rev. G. F. Tinsley preached the funeral sermon of Mrs. Fannie Williams. Rev. M. C. Reynolds preached the sermon, and Mr. Tinsley assisted in both the funeral and interment services.

FOUR GENERATIONS IN 56 YEARS.

While taking dinner at the home of Nathaniel Estep, at Garrett, on Beaver creek one day last week Dr. F. C. Edgar, optometrist of Pikeville observed an event possessing considerable human interest. Seated around the table were four generations of the Estep family within the compass of fifty-six years. First came grand-grandmother Estep, 72 years old, Nathan Estep, 55 years old, his daughter, aged 37, and finally the grandchild, a pretty miss of 16. Dr. Edgar found the entire Estep family in a hale and hearty condition, with a good reputation among their neighbors and enough of this world's goods, with other blessings, to make their life pleasant and enjoyable.

TAKES BABY BY HABEAS CORPUS.

Allfare Fleming, of the Long Fork of Shelby, through her attorney, W. W. Reynolds, obtained a writ of habeas corpus from the Circuit Court Monday which enabled her to recover her 29-months old baby boy from the hands of Willie and Isabelle Fleming, who remained away from court at the trial.

The mother of the child is a close relative of Constable Johnson of Shelby creek who is said to have had serious trouble with Levi Fleming, the father of the boy. According to the story which the mother told on the stand, the Flemings do not like her and her relatives, the Johnsons, and Willie Fleming and his wife met her and her little son on the road one day and forcibly took the child from her. She stated to the court that she had not seen the child for nine weeks and begged that he be immediately restored to her. Upon the failure of Willie Fleming to answer, the court issued the writ of habeas corpus directing the Sheriff to restore the child to its mother.

JURORS FOUND IRREGULARITIES AT ELKHORN.

The grand jury, which adjourned for the term last Saturday, before adjournment handed in to the court a lengthy report of its investigation into alleged irregularities at the August primary. The report dealt chiefly with the findings in Coeburn precinct, the box from which had been found to be stuffed with newspapers, and with alleged irregularities in the Lower Elkhorn precinct. The jury was unable to fix the cause for the outrage from Coeburn, because the proof was insufficient to warrant an indictment; though it said that the putting of the newspapers into the ballot box was most probably done after the box left the polls, as no evidence could be found that it had been done there.

In Lower Elkhorn, however, the case presented was very different. The evidence, said the report, is clear that a wide range of violations was committed. According to the report, voting on the table was freely allowed, and some school teachers voted in this way without being sworn. One man rode by the polls and cried out his vote and passed on without dismounting, while it is said many voters instead of casting a secret ballot only handed in slips of paper containing names of certain candidates furnished to them by election workers. Unused ballots were also said to have been scattered over the ground about the polls.

Four of the jurors deemed the evidence insufficient to warrant indictments in this precinct, also, and Judge J. M. Robertson uttered a strong denunciation of their act from the bench. He said that so long as the jury, carrying with it the dignity of the Commonwealth, countenanced such violations, it would be a long way to clean elections.

WELL KNOWN FARMER PASSED AWAY.

George Syck, a farmer and extensive land owner of Chloee creek, died at his home last Sunday evening from the effects of a complication of ailments in which there was an element of dropsy. He had not been in sound health for a long while, but only recently became bedfast. He was perhaps one of the best known and most successful farmers in this county, and enjoyed a good name and the profound respect of everyone who knew him. He lived simply and honestly, and died surrounded by friends and neighbors who suffered a great and irreparable loss when he passed from this life.

The funeral and interment ceremonies took place Tuesday. Besides the religious obsequies, the Masonic Lodge of Pikeville, of which he had long been a member, paid its last tribute of respect to a departed brother.

He was 77 years old at his death, and leaves two children, besides many other relatives, to mourn for him: Daniel Syck and Mrs. Lizzie Syck Walters.

NEW WHOLESALE GROCERY COMPANY ORGANIZED.

The Kentucky Wholesale Company was organized at Pikeville with a capital stock of $50,000.00 to engage in the Wholesale Grocery Business, occupying the new brick recently completed by W. H. McCulloch on Second-st. adjoining the new I. O. O. F. Hall. J. E. Ratliff will be President and Mr. McCulloch will be General Manager of the new firm. The fact that Pikeville now has two wholesale grocery concerns, as well as many other wholesale enterprises in other lines adds lustre to our city. The quarters of this new company will at once be established and opened for business with territory comprising the whole of Eastern Kentucky.

McCulloch was formerly manager of the Pikeville Grocery Co., another wholesale house here, and Ratliff is the present County Court Clerk here. Both are men of unusual business ability. Mr. McCulloch has great faith in Pikeville as a commercial center, and said last Monday "What we need is more good business men who have the confidence to invest here. There is a fine opening for a wholesale hardware company and possibly a wholesale shoe company." He wants to see everybody encourage everybody else and welcome all new enterprises that may come to us.

MARRIED IN OWSLEY.

Miss Vest Roberts of Virgie, this county was recently united in marriage to Mr. George F. Johnson, a prominent young merchant also of Virgie. The wedding ceremony was performed in Owsley-co., and the young couple have been spending their honeymoon in Cincinnati. They are expected to return home via Pikeville, arriving here tomorrow.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

The new presiding elder for the Ashland district of the Methodist church, Rev. Mr. Davenport, assisted by Rev. M. C. Reynolds, pastor, held the Quarterly Conference for the First Methodist Church at Pikeville last Saturday.

Mrs. J. I. Saad and Miss Kentucky Buskirk spent Sunday at Island creek, where they attended the revival meetings now in progress there.

Mrs. S. H. Wright has returned to Pikeville after a visit of several weeks to her farm in Florida.

J. W. Alley, Superintendent for the Prestonsburg Coal Co., was at Pikeville in conference with other coal men late last week.

Judge R. M. Stanley, formerly a citizen of Prestonsburg, but now living near Pikeville, has been here for several days recently.

The Gypsies, who had been in camp for several days of last week just below Pikeville, struck the trail Sunday morning for Richmond, Va., on their way to the south. Their evacuation was a considerable relief to many of the mothers of Pikeville. On last Friday afternoon a number of the young people, chaperoned by Jimmy Renfro, went to the camp to have their fortunes told. They spent the entire afternoon at the camp and say they had an enjoyable time.

Mrs. Margaret Phelps, who had for several weeks been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Brown, at Louisa, and son, Will Phelps, in West Va., returned to her home at Pikeville Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Greer were visitors at Paintsville last Saturday.

Miss Mary Bennett of Greenup is the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. D. Stephens, at Pikeville this week.

Miss Leone Polley of Elkhorn City was at Pikeville for a brief stay last Saturday.

Grant Phillips, a thriving fruit grower of Fort Pierce, Fla., is here for a few days to visit friends and look after legal business.

Mr. Geo. W. Pinson, Jr., and Mrs. Pinson entertained the following young friends to 6 o'clock dinner at their home on Scott-av. last Saturday: Miss Paullette and Mr. Peyton Hobson, Miss Hamlett and Mr. Jimmy Renfro.

J. Mart Potter of Whitesburg was at Pikeville Wednesday. Hon. David Hayes, also of Whitesburg, and Democratic nominee for Circuit Judge of the Pike-Letcher district, has also been here for most of this week attending Circuit Court.

Judge and Mrs. H. H. Stallard have been in Louisville during most of this week.

C. M. Jackson returned to Pikeville Tuesday evening from an extended business visit to Chicago and Rockford, Ill., and Joplin, Mo., and also for a short time in Louisville.

LETCHER COUNTY AND WHITESBURG.

What is Happening in this Rich Coal Territory of Kentucky.

WHITESBURG, KY., Oct. 12.—After persistent efforts upon the part of the people of Secco a rapidly growing new mining town between Fleming and Knott in the Boone's Fork coal fields of this county a postoffice has just been established with Prof. Ben F. Wright as postmaster. Mr. Wright will at once execute bond and take possession, giving the thriving new town postal facilities, long wanted. The South East Coal Co. with a number of coal operations in the Big Sandy Valley, is at the head of the development work at Secco. Everything is hustling around the new town.

A large number of new men, miners, largely foreigners, arrived in Fleming and Knott in the Boone's Fork coal fields during the past week, and all the mines in Fleming and Haymond are rushing as they never were before. It is said, also, that things are rapidly getting into readiness for the early resumption of the mines at Hemphill on Yount's Fork on the Yount's Fork Branch of the L. & N. for nearly a year. If this latter report is true it will give employment to between 200 and 300 men in the Hemphill mines. It is said here that some large new orders have been received by The Elkhorn Mining Corporation that will guarantee the complete operation of all their mines for the next twelve months. If true this will mean much for Letcher county and the whole of Eastern Kentucky. Business is also said to be equally as good in the plants of The Consolidation Coal Co. in and around Jenkins and McRoberts.

The lumber business is also steadily picking up and will soon be as good as ever is the consensus of opinion of the leading lumbermen of this section. Quite a number of timber lands deals have been made in this section within the past few weeks. The purchase of several days ago of 41,000 trees in the Shelby creek vicinity by the Fell interests will mean much to Letcher and Pike counties, as the cutting and marketing of the timber lies in this county, and a goodly number of men will be employed in the industry. This doubtless covers one of the best timber sections in the mountains.

Delayed owing to the inability of getting men J. J. Brady contractor on the new county road work immediately above Whitesburg the work started off Monday morning with splendid success and the work will be pushed as much as is possible. This stretch of good roads, in fact model roads, is being built by State Aid and will be under the direct supervision of a competent engineer sent out by the State. It is safe to predict that the road will be built right and in the best possible time, as the state department will not stand for any wrong doing, misappropriations, etc. Also Benton Blair our county road engineer will see over the building of the road.

After being ill for several days in this county Judge John F. Butler of Pikeville, republican nominee for Circuit Judge of the new Letcher-Pike district was able to resume his speaking campaign in Letcher county, speaking in each of the eight voting precincts. Good crowds heard him at every point and much interest is manifested. Politics is warming up in the county.

Country physicians who reported that a number of cases of diphtheria were prevalent among children throughout the county now give out the information that practically all danger is over there being but few cases in the county. There is no further cause, however, for alarm. Quite a few deaths occurred in the county. It is reported here from the headquarters of the North Fork that a case of smallpox has developed in the family of Henry Holbrook, a farmer. Every precaution will be made to prevent any spread of the disease. County Health authorities will be asked to take a hand looking to the precaution.

The Hon. A. Howard Stamper democratic nominee for Railroad Commissioner spoke to a large crowd at the court house here Thursday at 1 o'clock, and at night in the Y. M. C. A. hall in Fleming. A large crowd heard Mr. Stamper in Fleming, also. He left a good impression with our people.

A number of old fiddlers of Letcher county will attend the "Old Fiddlers' contest at Norton, Va., east of here Friday night in competition for a $100 prize in gold given the best fiddler. Old fashioned tunes, such as "Cumberland Gap," "Sourwood Mountain," "Dixie," "Old Folks at Home," "Turkey in the straw," etc., will be played. It is likely that a number of the towns of Eastern Kentucky will have old fiddlers contests within the next few months.

U. S. Commissioner Samuel Collins of this city and Judge Louis E. Harvie

Senator Ollie James at Pikeville Monday

Will Speak On October 18th at 12:15 O'Clock.

On next Monday Senator Ollie M. James will address the voters at Pikeville in the interest of the Democratic ticket.

It is unnecessary to tell our readers that Senator James is one of the greatest speakers in the country to-day. He is very close to the President and has been of great assistance to him in the Senate.

A general invitation is extended to everyone to hear this greatest orator in the South.

Music, a big rally, and trains held to give all a chance to attend and get away without too much loss of time.

of Jenkins returned from a months sojourn in the far west where they took in the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco. They report a delightfully entertaining trip, the real time of their lives.

Representatives of the Ohio Valley Trust Co., of Jackson have been in this county purchasing railroad ties in large quantities. It is stated that the cross tie market was never better, there being quite a foreign demand for them, millions going to the foreign countries. A number of the mills are sawing ties almost exclusively through out this section.

It is expected that right of ways will soon be secured for the Colly creek branch of the Louisville & Nashville immediately above this city; into a vast tract of real coal and timber territory yet undeveloped. The construction of the branch road, it is believed will follow soon after. It is said that contracts are being made for the sawing of the timber in the headwaters of Colly creek with which miners houses are shortly to be built.

The building of the road means some large development factors will spend millions of dollars in the development of that section. The building of this important branch is awaited with much interest among our people.

A large delegation of Whitesburg people headed by Democratic Chairman Ben E. Caudill went to Hazard, Perry-co., Thursday where they heard the matchless democratic leader, Hon. A. O. Stanley speak to a crowded court house in Perry county's capital. Mr. Stanley's tour of the mountains brought out large, interested crowds at every point, and ere the idea of November the mountains will be organized in splendid shape to show a big increase in the democratic majorities.

The people of Whitesburg were grieved to hear of the death of Uncle Geo. B. Turner venerable old man of Harlan which occurred a few days ago. He was one of the best loved old men in Eastern Kentucky.

MORE HOGS; FEWER DOGS.

A couple of years ago Booker Washington, of Tuskegee, started a campaign among the colored farmers for the promotion of hog raising. His arguments were of a forcible character and the Observer printed his letters with commendatory remarks. How well he succeeded in enlisting the interest of the colored farmers is given manifestation in a report carried by the Savannah News. It is shown that in 1913 the value of the hogs owned by the negroes of Chatham county was $775. This year the hog holdings of these same colored people had dropped to $165. These colored farmers have been devoting more attention to hogs, chickens and cows. President Wright, of the Georgia State Industrial College, has been inspired with a slogan for the colored people of that State, which would apply equally as well to the colored people of the South at large. It is simply: "Fewer dogs; more hogs." And in connection with it, the Savannah News advances some advice that is also worth passing along. It says the colored people of the country would be vastly better off if fewer of them were dog owners and more were hog owners, and too, if fewer were in the city and more of them were out in the country planting crops, establishing permanent homes for themselves and so building up the fortunes of their families. So many of them wouldn't be living from hand to mouth, in danger of temptations that idleness and shiftless living bring. Instead, they would be contributing to the development of the country, improving its soil making better people of themselves and accumulating something of value.—Charlotte Daily Observer.

POUND OF HONEY TO EVERY CITIZEN.

Vincennes, Ind., Sept. 25.—Fred Wagner, of Westphalia, one of the oldest men in the county, obtained 200 pounds of honey from his bees the other day, and in keeping with a recent promise delivered a pound each to every citizen.

THE DEFUNCT CITIZENS BANK.

Ashland people are much interested in any news in regard to the affairs of the defunct Citizens Bank. It has been reported on the streets that another 25 per cent dividend would be paid out shortly. This, we are reliably informed, is not true. There is not money enough in the hands of the Special Deputy Banking Commissioner to pay this dividend and besides a part of this is under contract, one suit now pending in the U. S. Court, which will not be tried until December. There are also other cases involving considerable sums, which will have to be settled in court.

From the best information obtainable, we understand a dividend cannot be paid before Jan. 1st, and not then unless certain cases are decided in favor of the Deputy Banking Commissioner. Two dividends have already been paid amounting to 50 per cent. It is generally believed that the depositors will be in time paid in full.—Independent.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.
